The Ex secretary General of United Nations Mr. Kofi Annan in his UN Millennium address at the 94th meeting held on 3rd April 2000 had also emphasized six core values in particular relevance to the new century. They are 1. Freedom, 2. Equality and Solidarity, 3. Tolerance, 4. Non-violence, 5. Respect for Nature and 6. Shared responsibility. Out of these six values, the first five are already the part and parcel of our training in propagating Relative Economics for betterment of human life.

With the blessing of the able successor of Acharya Mahapragya His holiness Acharya Mahashraman, The International Research Institute of Relative Economics is propagating this concept in Educational Institution, Financial Institutions & Banks, Government authorities and bureaucrats and finally Entrepreneurs working in rural areas. About 350 Ahinsa Prashikshan & Self Development Centres are working in rural areas to execute the action plan of Relative Economies at the grass Root Levels.

International Research Institute of Relative Economics (IRIRE)

..... Economic Revolution in the making

A New Concept of Development

His Holy Highness Acharya Shree Mahapragya

International Research Institute of Relative Economic is a path breaking concept which evolved through deep study, rational thinking and extra sensory perception by Acharya Shree Mahapragya Ji. With the vision directed by his Holy Highness Acharya Shree, we are infused with missionary zeal to establishing a New Thinking of Business Economics and it's relationship with Human Life.

The Seven Pillars of Relative Economics

Relative Economics - Ideology

1. Enlightened Economics
2. Resource Deployment
3. Human Values
4. Observing Good Conduct
5. Sustainability
6. Environmental Consciousness
7. Spirituality

1. Icchaa Parimaan (Rationalization of Desires)
2. Anekant' (Giving due respect to the other view points)
3. Ahimsa (Non-violence ingrained in our psychology so that no harm is done by thought, word or action)

Relative Economics – The CONCEPT

Relative Economics revolves around the Individual on Ethical grounds. It will embark itself in the process of creating new leadership. This new leadership will infuse Ideas, Values and Energy into the process thereby developing the cutting edge to deal with new opportunities and challenges. Thus through the element of research, along with mentoring and coaching a new educative paradigm will be established which will bring about a balance in Human Development at the 3 levels viz. Intellectual, Emotional and Spiritual.

Relative Economics –The OBJECTIVES

1. To create awareness for availing basic necessities of food, clothing and shelter.
2. To create awareness for availing safety, security, education, medical aid and job opportunities.
3. To create environmental consciousness, pollution awareness, and growth of natural resources.
4. To imbibe human values, ethics, morality, compassion and fellowship.
5. To inculcate the consciousness of limiting desires and limited consumption.
